

CAN WE HELP YOU?

JobWatch can assist workers in Victoria, Queensland and Tasmania with tailored legal information about their workplace rights through our Telephone Information Service.

Through our Legal Practice, we focus on supporting workers in Victoria that are particularly vulnerable to exploitative work situations because of their:

- gender
- race
- culture
- location
- class
- age
- visa status

The majority of our clients are not union members, cannot afford a private lawyer, and cannot self-represent on their matter.

If this is you, please contact us today!

ABOUT JOBWATCH

JobWatch is an independent, not-for-profit employment rights community legal centre supporting workers in Victoria, Queensland and Tasmania with their rights at work.

We are committed to improving the lives of workers, particularly the most vulnerable and disadvantaged.

Established in 1980, we are the only service of our kind in Victoria, Queensland and Tasmania.

We are particularly known for our:

- Telephone Information Service (TIS)
- Legal Practice
- Community Legal Education
- Law Reform Work

“The call put me in a better position to make an informed decision. It was very helpful, very down to earth, easy, approachable and put in simple terms.”

TELEPHONE INFORMATION SERVICE (TIS)

We are known for our unique Telephone Information Service (TIS), a free and confidential service that assists over 16,000 Victorian, Queensland and Tasmanian workers every year with their rights at work.

Through the TIS, we provide legal information and referrals relevant to the individual situations of the callers. Our consultants always provide a range of legal options and referrals to other services that may be able to provide additional support.

Call our free and confidential TIS now.

1800 331 617 (REGIONAL VIC, QLD, TAS)
03 9662 1933 (MELBOURNE METRO)

Note, the TIS provides tailored legal information, and does not provide legal advice. If you require more individualised legal advice, we can provide referrals to appropriate services when you call us.

LEGAL PRACTICE

We run a legal casework practice supporting over 500 vulnerable Victorian workers every year with their rights at work. The majority of our clients are not union members, cannot afford a private lawyer, and cannot self-represent on their matter.

We run special projects that address specific workplace issues, including a legal clinic for international students, legal representation for women experiencing family and domestic violence, and legal representation for dismissed workers.

COMMUNITY LEGAL EDUCATION

We deliver legal education and information for all workers and other sector partners. Knowledge about workplace rights provides workers with the tools they need to address exploitative work practices.

We provide speakers and run workshops on employment rights. These can be tailored for different audiences including schools, universities, training programs and community groups. We also assist other organisations with advice, educational material and training.

LAW REFORM WORK

We take a leading role in government advocacy, media campaigns and law reform activity to promote workplace justice and equity for all workers. We make submissions to a range of government inquiries, using our extensive database and our understanding of the human impact of government policy decisions.
