

How to refer your clients to JobWatch

SPECIALIST EMPLOYMENT RIGHTS COMMUNITY LEGAL CENTRE

We are an employment rights community legal centre helping Victorian, Queensland and Tasmanian workers with their rights at work. We work with other community legal centres and organisations to refer clients to our services.

Telephone Information Service

You can refer a client to our free and confidential Telephone Information Service (TIS) if they are:

- ✓ Living in Victoria, Queensland or Tasmania
- ✓ An employee, worker or independent contractor
- ✓ Having an issue with their rights at work

You can also call on their behalf.

Melbourne Metro
(03) 9662 1933
Regional Vic, Qld, Tas
1800 331 617

Community Legal Education

Contact jobwatch@jobwatch.org.au to discuss booking a presentation on work rights for your clients. We can tailor presentations to suit the needs of your audience.

Legal Practice

We support clients with more dedicated casework through our Legal Practice. Our clients are:

- ✓ Living in Victoria
- ✓ An employee, worker or independent contractor
- ✓ Having an issue with their rights at work
- ✓ Particularly vulnerable to exploitative work situations because of their:
 - gender
 - race
 - culture
 - language
 - location
 - class
 - age
 - visa status
 - experience with family violence
 - experience with sexual harassment or discrimination

The TIS is a referral pathway for many of our Legal Practice cases. Please call the TIS as a starting point.

Warm referrals and secondary consultations

We take warm referrals from other CLCs on employment law matters where they are unable to take the case. These cases must have legal merit, and meet our case criteria (see left).

We are also able to provide expert secondary consultations on individual employment law cases for CLC lawyers.

Find out more and submit a request on our website:
www.jobwatch.org.au/what-we-do/referrals-to-jobwatch/